

The most direct .com address for global commerce. Available for the first time.

WorldTrade.com is two plain English words that mean the same thing in every market, held privately and continuously by one owner for more than thirty years and never before offered for sale. It fits a global B2B marketplace, a trade finance or payments platform, a trade-data business, a logistics or customs brand, or a trade institution that wants a global front door. This page is the whole story; the owner is one email away.

Why this name

Says what the business does. Marketplace, finance, logistics, data or institution: the name needs no explanation and no tagline.

Recognized everywhere. "World trade" is understood on every continent and is the phrase used by the institutions that govern commerce itself.

One owner, thirty years. Registered in the early years of the commercial internet. Clean history, no disputes, no liens, no prior transfers.

Easy to say, spell and remember. No hyphens, no numbers, no ambiguity on a phone call or a billboard, and a match for one of the largest commercial search categories.

Who it fits

Global B2B marketplace. Own the category name outright.

Trade finance and payments. Supply-chain finance, invoice financing, FX, B2B payments.

Trade data and intelligence. Import/export data, tariff and sanctions intelligence, AI tools.

Logistics and customs. Digital freight, customs brokerage, compliance software.

National or regional trade hub. Free zone, port, chamber or export agency wanting a global address.

Trading platform. A brokerage brand that signals every market, not one.

Terms of sale

Price

By negotiation

Sold by private negotiation. Structured payment plans (down payment plus an agreed term, domain held in escrow) are available.

Closing

Escrow.com

Domain transfers only after funds are verified; funds release only after the buyer confirms control. Typically five to ten business days from a signed agreement.

Confidentiality and exclusivity

Mutual NDA on request

The buyer's identity is never disclosed by the seller. A 90-day exclusive negotiation window is available against a non-refundable deposit held in escrow.

Due diligence, in brief

The domain is held in the owner's own name at a major registrar with registrar lock and two-factor authentication enabled. This is a sale of the domain name only; "world trade" is a generic phrase and the buyer is free to build and register its own brand around it. There are no encumbrances, disputes or prior commercial uses to unwind. Brokers representing a buyer are welcome.

Contact

Norman J. Levine, owner
[EMAIL] | [PHONE]
Replies within one business day.

Next step

Send a short note with what you have in mind, or visit WorldTrade.com to start a conversation or make an offer.